KAMPAR RIVER

GOPENG, PERAK, MALAYSIA

Surrounded by the natural beauty of Perak, Malaysia, Gopeng is a haven for adventure and eco-tourism. This charming town offers a wealth of outdoor activities, from exhilarating whitewater rafting and intriguing cave explorations to breathtaking waterfall abseiling, scenic sunset hikes, and immersive jungle treks.

The Kampar River flows through this area, providing exciting rapids ideal for whitewater rafting, attracting both beginners and experienced rafters.

Experience the Kampar River's unique blend of natural flow and seasonal dynamism. Unlike major rivers, its flow is largely unaffected by large dams, relying instead on natural rainfall, particularly during the monsoon. This creates a thrilling and ever-changing environment for water sports. Well-designed access points with purpose-built ramps ensure easy entry and navigation for teams and officials. Paddlers will face the challenge of navigating natural waves and drop-offs, adding a strategic depth to the competition.

Kampar River:

Grade 2/ 3

River water temperature:

25°C - 27°C - By dressing in quick-dry, fitted, and protective gear, athletes can stay comfortable, mobile, and safe on the Kampar River.

River Terrain:

River left and right is natural jungle and offers easy access from the road for judges and safety. It is also easy to recycle the boats.
